Financial Statement for Fiscal Year 2016

Total Revenue:
$5,995,146

Total Expenditures:
$5,995,146

Greetings All,

We are proud to present our 2016 Annual Report of the Department of Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention. This report highlights our revenue sources, expenditures, grantees and program evaluation. The 2016 report also features the creation of the Children's Cabinet and the work of the Erin's Law Task Force.

Our agency, also known as The Children's Trust Fund, works diligently to secure the resources to award grant funding to community-based programs across Alabama that work to prevent child maltreatment. Programs funded fall into the categories of parent education and support; home visiting; fatherhood; respite care; mentoring; and public awareness. Our grantees incorporate the protective factors work in their service models and delivery. These community-based programs focus on providing resources and training to ensure that children are raised in safe, stable and nurturing environments.

ADCANP/CTF provides on-going training and technical assistance, as well as other resources, to each of the programs funded by our agency to ensure accountability and we partner with Auburn University to evaluate the progress and success of each grantee. We are equally proud to partner with other state agencies and organizations as we work together to invest in programs that provide children and families with opportunities to thrive.

Warmest regards,

Sallye R. Longshore

2016 Highlights

Alabama Children's Cabinet

In April 2016, Governor Robert Bentley announced the creation of the Alabama's Children's Cabinet to streamline services and programs to Alabama's more than 1 million children. Sallye Longshore, ADCANP Executive Director, was one of ten department heads appointed to the Alabama Children's Cabinet.

Governor's Task Force on the Prevention of Child Sexual Abuse

After the passage of Erin's Law, a Governor's Task Force was created on the Prevention of Child Sexual Abuse in 2016. The Task Force is led by Representative Terri Collins, a ADCANP Board Member, and the Vice-Chair is Tracy Plummer, ADCANP Deputy Director. A highlight of their work was Act 2016-354 (HB 238) enacted during the 2016 Regular Legislative Session, which includes certain Governor's Task Force recommendations that resulted in statutory additions, deletions, and/or changes. Additionally, Executive Order Number 20 (Ordered April 28, 2016) states that the children's policy councils and local child advocacy centers shall develop a child sexual abuse prevention plan based on needs at the local county level, including accomplishing the following:

- Report on respective county child sexual abuse prevention plans.
- Work with local school systems in developing a program on Mandatory Reporting to be provided at the beginning of each school year as part of each local school system's in service
- Work with local school systems in developing an orientation for all middle school and high school students regarding "peer-to-peer" sexual abuse crimes to be provided at the beginning of each school year.

Child Abuse Prevention Month

In April 2016, the ADCANP and grantees promoted awareness on the importance of child abuse prevention through a variety of outreach efforts. There was a total of 68 events that occurred across the state, which included proclamation signings, balloon releases, 5K runs, and Family Fun Days!

Program Evaluation

In 2015-2016, the ADCANP awarded over $5.3 million to fund 122 community-based prevention programs and 2 statewide initiatives that applied for grants. The ADCANP contracted with a research team in the Human Development and Family Studies Department at Auburn University to evaluate the combined effort and effectiveness of these programs. Key findings from the evaluation include:

- The percentage of youth in grades 3-5 who said they knew "a lot" about each of the 11 learning objectives increased an average of 45% pre-program to post-program in their assessment.
- Adult participants in Parent Education, Home Visiting, and Respite Care programs had statistically significant improvements in the following: use of support services, use of positive parenting skills, child development knowledge, positive view and knowledge of one's child, stress and anger management, ability to respond to child's needs, and ability to seek informal support.
- Public awareness of child maltreatment prevention impacted over 24,611 youth and adults who participated in a community awareness event or presentation in 2016. Helpful information was also provided through media and social media outlets, accumulating 11,397,280 exposures/impressions.

Programs Funded

Research indicates that key activities for the prevention of child maltreatment include public awareness, parent education, respite for parents of special needs children, facilitation of positive father involvement, and child and youth awareness, knowledge and support. Based on these key activities, the chart to the right categorizes the 122 community-based prevention programs by their focus.

$5.3 million
in grants awarded

124
programs statewide

100,156
adults & children impacted

"Overwhelmingly, programs continue to show empirical evidence of enhanced protective factors and indications that funding prevention programs can reduce the significant human and economic costs of child abuse and neglect."
